The Fall is a Gift to us from the Universe. It is a season of heightened awareness. It is a time that embraces stunning Fall foliage, delectable produce, Indian Summer, and special days - Thanksgiving and Halloween.

We have a kaleidoscope of articles and poems based on our theme Simple Joys. Julian's Affirmation and his workshop in Saul's Corner are the colors, and a unique perspective from each of our writers creates the many shapes.

JULIAN AFFIRMATION

God is my source of all supply.

He answers my every need.

I become a flow of energy in a moving force.

I know no beginning and no end.

I am an instrument of peace and wholeness.

It flows from me, through my voice and my eyes

It flows through me from my heart and my touch.

It flows. A never ending force of peace.

For that is who I am.

So be it.

Feature Column by Eleanor Johnson

As I prepare this article for the Ring of Light, I am grateful for having survived tropical storm

Irene without a major impact to my home. If I have any doubt that the LIGHT WORKS, I have been assured that it does. I am grateful for June and Julian's teachings plus the advice of Aca' u. They have served us well.

The Fall Equinox, is upon us as we approach September 21st. It is symbolic of the harvest. This is the harvest of our thoughts and ideas that began with the Spring Equinox, the time of new beginnings.

We greet the Equinox when the planet Mars enters the sign of Leo, from September to the middle of November. Mars in Leo works well. Mars is a fire planet, a fire energy, and Leo is a fire sign. It is creative, enthusiastic and ambitious. Lots of courage and vitality in this sign motivates us to achieve our objectives and goals.

Saturn, the Great Disciplinarian, remains in Libra. Saturn in Libra is very cooperative with Mars in Leo. They support each other and work well together. This pair can assist us to grow through our relationships as Leo is love and Libra rules relationships. It can encourage us to use good judgment, diplomacy, tact with patience, endurance, and responsibility. This is what Saturn in Libra is trying to convey both personally and globally.

Jupiter is in the sign of Taurus the remainder of this year until June of 2012. Jupiter in Taurus is in a Venus sign, helping us to value what is important in life.

October, Jupiter trines Pluto in the heavens. This is a good blending of the optimism and exuberance of Jupiter with the caution and intensity of Pluto. This can allow us to have a penetrating insight to permit us to overcome obstacles that could prevent us from achievement. Psychic ability runs high.

November 15th brings a solar eclipse at 2 degrees of Sagittarius. It makes a trine in the heavens to Uranus, a positive aspect.

Mercury will retrograde from November 24th to December 14th. Mercury will be in Sagittarius. It can be impulsive in this sign. Watch the decisions you make. Do not overdo or overextend yourself. Mercury in this sign loves to do things in a big way. Keep the balance, express your sense of humor, and all will be well.

Love and Light,
Eleanor

Simple Joys

By John Svirsky
Garrison, NY

Simple Joys, sounds easy to write about, doesn't it? I thought so too, until I tried to do so. The first limitation is that I don't believe one can write intellectually about something one experiences from the heart.

I won't bore you or myself describing simple joys of being, such as, running naked in the grass while allowing the rain to kiss my body. I'll leave that to the romantic writers. For me, there is no greater joy than actually listening and hearing my inner voice. Well maybe one greater joy, following the guidance I have been given. Well maybe one even greater joy, rather than giving the power outside of myself to see myself as part of my guides, my Angels, and being one with All. Ah ha! That is the greatest joy of all, being one with all, and living from that place of inner knowing and connection.

...the greatest joy of all,
being one with all...

So, I start from the premise that simple joys are not intellectual achievements or accomplishments. They are much more ethereal than that. I start from the place that they are also not from the romance novels or from TV or from what we view at the movies. These are other people's fantasies not mine, For too long I would see something on TV and make the experience my own, believing because I saw it on the screen, it too, was my own reality. At one point a very smart lady explained to me, that to the child mind, the subconscious does not differentiate or filter between its own experiences and that which it sees on TV, magazines or the movies. Isn't that a scary thought? I lived much of my life trying to find happiness by doing that which I observed others were doing, making it my own, and then wondering why I was not fulfilled when I succeeded.

Today simple joy for me is connecting to my Higher Power, feeling and allowing the energy to flow through my being, allowing me to feel not only my wonderful and powerful physical body, mental body, and spiritual bodies, but to feel them working together in harmony for the singular purpose of being.

Shakespeare through the vehicle of Polonius in Hamlet said, "to thine own self be true, and it must follow, as the night the day, Thou canst not then be false to any man." Contrast that with Oscar Wilde saying, "Most people are other people. Their thoughts are someone else's opinions, their lives a mimicry, their passions a quotation," good examples of polarity leading to truth, for in my mind both statements are spot on. In my case I see that my starting point was as Oscar Wilde described, and I see my direction, my goal and hearts desire is to the end this lifetime being true to myself. Yet as Julian was so fond of saying: "to know the self is to know quick silver." For the true authenticate self, as compared to the false self we live in so much of the time, is constantly changing and evolving and living in the moment. We must be conscious of the moment we are in, without judgment but with awe and wonderment of all that is present.

This very simple statement "You are Blessed and you are Safe. Open the Eye" as Julian counseled June says it all. We are blessed, we are safe, and it is up to each of us individually to open the Eye. The Eye of knowing, the Eye of awareness and the Eye of being.

Just being conscious and present to all that is around us is important and the way I have found to listen deeper, to hear and feel more of what is present is through my own daily writing. I am not sure of any better way to know one's self than through writing. It is my gift to myself. I have been constantly amazed by what comes through my fingers on to the computer screen for me to read.

Call it channeling if you like, but I don't. I call it me being able to listen to me, something that is a soul lesson of mine. By the time I leave this earth I look forward to saying "Ah ha, the old boy finally heard what we (my guides) have been trying to tell him all these years; life is but a joke, don't take it so seriously. It was and is our playground to try our new ideas. Nothing more, nothing less."

So I imagine I will never find Simple Joy by pursuing it. Yet by being open to its presence I am enhanced and fulfilled in the knowing that Simple Joy never left me. I was only temporarily distracted from feeling it's essence.

Ripples in the Force...

By Anne Claire Venemans
Utrecht, Netherlands & Patagonia, Arizona

There are certain things in life that can create a ripple effect in the 'Force' ~ in the energy field around us. And perhaps surprisingly, these things often are small even innocuous things, like a budding flower or a butterfly moving around seemingly aimlessly. Children and baby~animals (well okay, maybe not all baby~animals) have a tendency to start tiny ripples in the 'Force'.

Those ripples start with a little jump in our hearts.

Once one of those ripples has gotten our attention, we really look at what is the cause of the movement of energy and may say something like: "Ahwwwwww! How cute!!" And pretty soon we may find ourselves smiling :)

As it turns out, a smile is a very powerful transformative event.

A smile is infectious. Whether a person wants to or not, a smile will transform the space they are in at that moment. It may even transform their whole day! And so, while we may still be smiling because of what we have seen that made our hearts jump ~ people we may not even know see us smile and that in itself can bring a smile to their faces as well! It can lighten their day. It can be that little ray of hope or joy for those that perhaps find themselves in a difficult situation...

That ripple that started with a little jump in our hearts, is now transforming the world around us.

Like the ripples that appear after we have thrown a stone in the water, these ripples in the 'Force' move out until they meet the edge, and then return back to their point of origin ~ bringing that transformed energy back to us, causing our hearts to make a little jump...

Simple things in our lives can create huge ripples in the 'Force', and in that manner bring a lighter, brighter energy into our lives, into our environment, and into the world.

And the simple joys in our lives, the small things that make us smile may well be one of the most powerful transformative energies we have to share with the world...

In Peace,
Anne Claire

"Simple Gifts" was written by Elder Joseph while he was at the Shaker community in Alfred, Maine. These are the lyrics to his one-verse song:

*'Tis the gift to be simple, 'tis the gift to be free
'Tis the gift to come down where we ought to be,
And when we find ourselves in the place just right,
'Twill be in the valley of love and delight.
When true simplicity is gain'd,
To bow and to bend we shan't be asham'd,
To turn, turn will be our delight,
Till by turning, turning we come 'round right.*

When I saw the theme for this edition of The Ring of Light this lilting song began playing in my head and each time I thought about the theme it came back. So, I am gifting you with the same joy!

There is such joy to listen to it play in your head and actually sing along!

What a better place this world would be if we remembered the simple joys of life instead of concentrating 24/7 on the horrendous evils that man has devised to wreck havoc on the land and sometimes us! Yes, we need to be aware of problems and negativity and we need to take steps to prevent/correct them. But to spend all of our waking hours on those thoughts alone is a terrible disservice to ourselves and to everyone with we come into contact. We need to develop the art of thinking positively and spreading it around wherever we go! Remember...by keeping a positive outlook regardless of the circumstances with which we are dealing can help change the energy and encourage a positive outcome! Recalling simple joys already experienced is one way to do this.

As a child I can remember walking to the corner deli and splurging a whole nickel on an Italian Lemon Ice. What a simple and delicious joy on a hot summer afternoon!

And when I enrolled in college and was accepted on my grades alone without having to take any entrance exams – it was pure bliss!

My first car was a beat-up old Chevy for which I paid $90 but I could not have been happier if it had been a brand new Mercedes!

And the first time I saw a ceramic article that I had made come out of the kiln a finished piece – oh my – I was DaVinci, Michelangelo, and Rodin all rolled into one!

What I am trying to say is that it really takes very little to create joy in our lives if we are open to it! We may think that winning the lottery will be the answer to all of our problems and guarantee everlasting happiness but... it could also be the start of a horrific period of unrest and disappointment!

We might truly believe that being chosen for a coveted job, or being elected to a particular office, or meeting the person of our dreams will be the ultimate of rewards, and so they might be! But never forget the joy of walking through the woods on a beautiful Autumn day and watching the critters scurrying about, or picking wild flowers by the side of the road, or seeing an old friend with whom we have not had contact in a long time. These are simply joys that can make our hearts sing and give us something to remember when the skies darken.

And who has not gone into ecstasy when receiving a sloppy, wet kiss from a wiggling puppy? Can't think of anyone I know!

One of the joys of my life at the present time is to meet an old friend for lunch and catch up on "what's new"! And regardless of all of the projects with which I am involved I still have the same joy and awe when I open the kiln and see the finished pieces

Saul's CornerThe Conscious Mind (cont'd from June 2011 ROL)

Levels of the Mind - Workshop #200

Copyright © 1986 Saul Srour

Authors: Rev. June K. Burke and the Seraph Julian

You work with the super-conscious level of the mind in directing the life. This functions with the pineal gland, for that is the level of mind of the pineal. The pineal is the master gland of the spirit body just as the pituitary is the master gland of the physical body. The subconscious directs the pituitary and the body. What is stored in the subconscious is very much like your computer system. You put all this stuff in there, and it is supposed to come out in its proper sequence when you need it, so what you put in there is very important. The conscious mind is the collector, as we mentioned earlier. Everything you conceive is stored as a memory in the subconscious to be called forth when it is needed for identification.

If there is an impairment of any kind of the conscious mind, so that discernment is not there, one must work through the super-conscious mind for direction of the subconscious so that the body can function. There are times when you have to by-pass that conscious mind to get to the subconscious. Again, hypnosis works with the quieting of the conscious mind, getting the conscious mind concentrating elsewhere so that the information can be directed to the subconscious. The super-conscious is the spirit consciousness. If you center yourself (meditation is the key to all of this), you will find yourself in direct contact with that super conscious mind which can pull from that cosmos anything you want – anything you want. Just be careful what you want. You do not get half packages; you get the whole package. If you want the big car, you are going to get the big car and the big gas bills and the big repair bills and whatever goes with it. There are no half packages; you get the whole thing.

If you are directing something in your life to the detriment of another, you are not going to manifest. Suppose a person says, "Oh, if he'd only die, I'd have all his money, and I could do what I wanted." Even if he did die, that person would not do what he wants, because he has created a growth negativity with his thinking. You must ask yourself, first of all, "If it has not manifested, what is there about it that is not right for me?" And you must ask, "What have I done to help manifest it in the physical?" Everything that is in the cosmos, everything in the etheric form, must have the force of a physical being to bring it into manifestation in the physical world -- the altering of vibrations through expansion and contraction, and so forth. Your physical action toward something puts the wheels in motion.

For instance, people say, "I've always wanted to have a fur coat, but I've never had one." You will find that they have never put one cent away toward a fur coat. They have spent their money on everything else that they wanted that came along in the meantime. Had they begun to seed money toward that coat by putting away something and giving up something else, the sacrifice would manifest. In other words, "I'd like to have that record this week, but that's ten dollars that can go toward my coat."

Everything manifests through sacrifice of some kind. That does not mean blood on the altar. I cannot tell you that enough because there are such misconceptions about sacrifice. Sacrifice is transition, transformation. What you are doing is transferring the finances that you have into a priority direction toward what you want, which can then put all the wheels into motion to help it happen.

You can never expect spirit to give you that which you will not give yourself, or do for you that which you will not do for yourself. It doesn't work that way. They are not a magic surprise station sort-of-thing. If something is not manifesting in your life, your thinking process on it has not been clear and concise. When you are trying to manifest something, do not bother with creative writing. Embellishment is not what you want. You want clear, concise thought, positive thought that is absolutely directional.

There are many things that help for concentration. For instance, ritual is not bad. Ritual has a purpose it is a focusing. You say a bath relaxes you so you can concentrate, a lit candle gives you a focusing point of light this sort of thing. That is fine, but when you start getting to the point where the ritual is running you instead of you running the ritual, it is out of balance. Once it is out of balance, it can in no way serve you. Then you say, "Let's start from scratch. What am I doing to make what I want to happen in my life happen?" Or, "Am I expending my energies on something detrimental to me?" The person who says, "All I want is his wife," is going to expend all his energies on "his wife" while fourteen absolutely gorgeous, free women walk by, and then he wonders why he gets no place. That person is attempting to take something that is not really his to take.

That is not positive; that is greed. There is a difference. You do have to ask yourself what you are asking -- what you are really asking.

One of the sermons the instrument has given is based on: I don't know what the future holds, but I know who holds the future. When you use the God within you, it is faith.

It is using that which was given to you, which is the God-Self. It is not in conflict to absolute faith, because if you have absolute faith in you, you have absolute faith in God, for you are God – an extension of Him. That breath of life breathed forth in you is the God Self.

When they say you must have blind faith, it is saying have blind faith in the God within you. The difference is that many people recognize God as an external being but do not see Him as internal. You need to work with that -- the internal God.

In reality, there is no conflict. It is, again, according to the programming of a dogmatic principle within someone as to how much that person can accept. Many people who become involved in the metaphysical area go through a great purging or confusion trying to separate dogmatic principle from the principle of manifestation. But, you see, the whole universe was created by manifestation. There was movement in the void -- creative thought -- expansion, contraction, and so forth.

Let us say you were the parent of (heaven forbid) twenty eight children. Would it not be terrible if you taught those children that they never had to do anything but rely on you? Is it not better that you say, "My instructions, which will let you have all that you want, are given to you. Now you work at it."

The problem is that in areas of metaphysics, people go on power kicks. They begin to let the ego get in the way of the God knowledge, the God-Self, and then they begin to interpret the God-Self as strictly power. That is not what it is at all; it is centering. It is power, power that is almost frightening in its strength, but a power for fulfillment only when directed as it should be. Misdirected it boomerangs right back on the person and that is what dogmatic principle (organized religions) have tried to protect mankind from since the beginning of time. It is important to realize that in your day and age there are many educated people who are thinkers, but long ago there were very, very few. Most people did not read nor write, and so the church, as you would call it, became a power for protection of the masses. That is why they would always warn to beware of charlatans, beware of mediums, beware of talking with spirits, and so forth. There were many charlatans who would deceive people who did not know and had no way of protecting themselves. It started out to be a very good thing but like many good things, sometimes gets carried away with itself and becomes the "only" thing.

Your ability to create a high quality product is based on how you focus your energy and what you brought into the life. Some people have come in much more creative than others because of past involvement and what they have asked to work with in this life. Others will have to work twice as hard to pull it from themselves. It is where you are directing the force that makes that difference.

Usually there will be a natural leaning, a desire or

Always be sure you are not by-passing the answer to your prayer and not seeing it.

interest in a specific field. You must then obtain for yourself whatever the criteria of that field calls for.

Remember this, every Master Teacher in the world functioned through, what seems to be, dogmatic principles (Christianity, Judaism, Buddhism, Islam, and so forth), but every Master Teacher in the world taught the same principle. The Master Teacher Jesus taught and preached on the hilltop. He did not have a temple. He did not say this is where I am. He said, "I Am That I Am. I am one with the Father, therefore, what I speak are His words." Zoroaster taught the same thing. Long before Jesus and Buddha, there were Master Teachers who came to bring the message home more strongly in their given areas, and the teachings of these people have survived all that mankind could do to them. Even though mankind tries to make their own design from wisdom and truth, the wisdom and truth are always there at the core. That is why I say to you, accept nothing that you cannot feel yourself. You must take away the embellishment of any dogmatic principle, any philosophy, and find the truth at the center. When you do, you will find the exact same truth.

You must ask yourself what is creative effort for you. A creative force can manifest itself many ways in the life. A person may be creative in his home. He may be creative in the arts, or music, or dance, but he has to know what creative force he is manifesting for himself and if it is right for him. In other words, if you have the ability to create a harmonious home and excellent food, which is a creative expression, and you're doing that well, do not lament the fact that you are not the great sculptor. Know that you are creative and directing that creativity to that which is the element of the self. No matter what you decide to direct that creative energy to, you are going to have to put the physical effort into it.

Being realistic is never separate from spirituality. Spirituality is not a pie-in-the-sky fantasy; it is reality. Being most spiritual is facing reality many times and altering the direction of your force. Let us say that a young woman is a writer, and she is writing for a specific market because in her mind, that is what she would like to do. Perhaps the real quality of her work lies in a slightly different market or different manner of writing. Once she faces the reality that that market is not hers but the other one can be, her full potential can flow, and she can create in the market which is right for her. It is a fine line difference between a desire and a need, a fulfillment.

Your ability to create a high quality product is based on how you focus your energy and what you brought into the life. Some people have come in much more creative than others because of past involvement and what they have asked to work with in this life. Others will have to work twice as hard to pull it from themselves. It is where you are directing the force that makes that difference.

Usually there will be a natural leaning, a desire or interest in a specific field. You must then obtain for yourself whatever the criteria of that field calls for. In other words, if a creative expression is to be through dance, then one knows that one has to learn the dance steps. You can dream about being a great dancer, but until you put the hours of practice and work into it and use that force with your creative thought, it will not materialize. The person who wants to write and sits down once a month for a half hour is never going to be a writer. He must really work at it and make it a focus of his life in order for it to manifest.

Sit down and meditate. Let your super conscious, your Higher Self, give you direction. Give yourself the dignity of a time slot, the perseverance of staying with it, and ask that the direction be where to channel your energy. Again, go inward to the God within. When you know what direction to channel, get the professional know-how that is needed. You go inward first, and it will succeed.

Please remember this, many times your prayers and your requests are answered and you do not recognize it. When you ask for help, be willing to take the help that comes. Do not say it has to be green; do not say it has to come on Tuesday; do not say it has to be in this manner. Say, "This is the situation, Father, give me the answer in here," and you will get the answer.

It may not be the one you want. That is where you often fool yourself. You want an answer for your prayer, but you want it your way. You are not asking for help, you are asking for your will, your desire. Many times people will ask to have some sort of manifestation, will get

The joy that roots the spirit
comes only from the heart
The joy that roots the spirit
cannot be found apart
The joy that roots the spirit
cannot be trapped or fought
The joy that roots the spirit
comes only when we stop

The joy that roots the spirit
is embracing why we cry
The joy that roots the spirit
is embracing why we die
The joy that roots the spirit is embracing why we see
The joy that roots the spirit is embracing how to be

The joy that roots the spirit
comes not from yesteryear
The joy that roots the spirit
comes not from times yet here
The joy that roots the spirit
comes not from distant lands
The joy that roots the spirit is here flowing through our hands

The joy that roots the spirit is celebrating how to heal
The joy that roots the spirit is celebrating how to feel
The joy that roots the spirit
is watered by our tears
The joy that roots the spirit that manifestation in a different form, and will not recognize that their prayer has been answered. A person says, "I want a car because I've got to get to work every day," and the neighbor knocks on the door and says, "You know, we work in the same place. Why don't we ride together and share the expenses, and it will be better for both of us." Transportation to his job that he can afford has been presented to him. He cannot afford the car at the moment, but he does not recognize that his prayer has been answered because it was not his car in his garage. Always be sure you are not bypassing the answer to your prayer and not seeing it. Very important.

When help is sent, be ready to accept it. Many people will say they want help and when somebody offers them help, will react with, "I can't take it from you. My pride won't let me." Then they say their prayers are never answered. It is amusing to watch the human race. It is amusing, believe me. But it is all lessons in learning.

Can Cold Water Clean Dishes?

Russ Beck
Cupertino, CA

This is for all the germ conscious folks that worry about using cold water to clean.

John went to visit his 90 year old grandfather in a very secluded, rural area of Saskatchewan.

After spending a great evening chatting the night away, the next morning John's grandfather prepared breakfast of bacon, eggs and toast.

However, John noticed a film like substance on his plate, and questioned his grandfather asking,

“Are these plates clean?”

His grandfather replied,

“They're clean as cold water can get'em. Just you go ahead and finish your meal, Sonny!”

For lunch the old man made hamburgers.

Again, John was concerned about the plates.

As his appeared to have tiny specks around the edge that looked like dried egg and asked,

“Are you sure these plates are clean?”

Without looking up the old man said,

“I told you before, Sonny, those dishes are as clean as cold water can get them. Now don't you fret, I don't want to hear another word about it!”

Later that afternoon, John was on his way to a nearby town and as he was leaving, his grandfather's dog started to growl, and wouldn't let him pass.

John yelled and said,

“Grandfather, your dog won't let me get to my car.”

Without diverting his attention from the football game he was watching on TV, the old man shouted,

“Coldwater, go lay down now, yah hear me!”
